

MEN'S HATS

When on long journeys, or when working in the sun, the men often wear hats. These vary in shape and material, but all are waterproof and most of them are fitted with an inner band of closely plaited rattan. This serves the double purpose of a head rest and a receptacle for tobacco and the like.

The hat at the top is of wood, while the one below it is covered with calfskin.

TINGUIAN

Northwestern Luzon, Philippine Islands

ROBERT F. CUMMINGS EXPEDITION
F. C. COLE, COLLECTOR

108745, 51-65