

WOMAN'S DRESS

Weavers, mediums, and other women under the special protection of the spirits are allowed to wear blood-red jackets. The embroidery and dyed designs on this waist are probably the work of the neighboring Bila-an tribe. The skirt is made of hemp with woven figures representing crocodiles in the central band.

BAGOBO

Southern Mindanao, Philippine Islands

ROBERT F. CUMMINGS EXPEDITION

F. C. COLE, COLLECTOR

128765, 85