

190211

Field No.

35

Neg. No.

Acc. 2848

Provenience: Near Caninde, Rio Gurupi, Para, BRAZILPeople or Culture: Urubu IndiansObject: Carrying sling for male baby at name giving ceremonyMaterial: Cotton, arara feathers

Description: Circular band of white cotton woven thread. Ornamented with mostly red, some black, yellow, blue, and green feathers, set around both edges and arranged in a row through center. - Acc. collector: Baby carrying sling made by women for male infants to be used in the name-giving ceremony. Arara feathers.
Sketch on the reverse side.

Dimensions: Length double: about 55
(in cm.) Width without feathers: 18.4

Collection: Purchased from Borys Malkin.
Collected by him 1963, 1964.

