

WATER CONTAINERS.

Water is carried in cocoanut shells, two of which are generally fastened together by means of rattan bands. These bands make it possible to hang the containers on wall pegs in the house. One of the cocoanut shells is single and is fitted with a drinking tube.

NICOBAR ISLANDS.

MUSEUM EXPEDITION.

A. R. BROWN, COLLECTOR.

115614-17