

STONE SLAB

From a temple building. A Bodhisatva in high relief, adorned with a jeweled fillet, necklace, breast ornaments, and armlets, and with a decorated, leaf-shaped aureole. His right hand clasps a perforated throwing discus or quoit, his middle and fourth finger being in the perforation. His shawl is elegantly draped and falls over his right wrist down to the base.

PERIOD OF WEI DYNASTY (A.D. 386-534)

R 66

121384 ✓