

TRANSLUCENT WHITE BOWL

Of egg-shell thinness, decorated with two dragons painted in a white slip under the glaze. Interesting because it shows marks of the lathe, which thinned it down before glazing and firing.

Dated: Hsüan-Tê Period (1426-1435), but probably a fine copy made during the Yung-chêng (1723-1735) or Ch'ien-lung (1736-1795) Periods.
