

Two horns joined: one in shape of a veined lotus-leaf, the other forming the stalk. The latter is hollow and connects with the cup; it forms a tube from which wine was taken. Decorated with lotus flowers, leaves, and a crab; the seven black seeds appearing in the seed-receptacle are movable.

John J. Mitchell

110655