

A

ENT

CHICAGO NATURAL HISTORY MUSEUM—ETHNO

598-3/09
228-1

233465

Provenience: CHINA, Ssu-ch'uan 四川
Province (?)

Field No.

People or Culture: Miao (Ch'uan Miao 川苗)

Object: Gaign (Miao) or liu-sheng (Chinese) 六笙: a wind instrument for making music.

Material: Wood and bark and bamboo

Description: Consists of an elongated tube-like stem body into the larger end of which are fitted six pipes. Body: bi-valve, with the two "valves" bound together with strips of bark resembling cherry bark;
body made of wood. Pipes: bamboo, with finger holes.

Neg. No.

For illustration of similar one see Graham, D.C.,
Songs and Stories of the Ch'uan Miao (1954): p. 93
Dimensions:

(in cm.)

length 59.5, height 54

Collection: Presented by Dr. David C. Graham

8/30/57

Acc. 2605